DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

- 1. Applicant's election with traverse of claims 34-51 in the response filed 11 January 2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that undue searching should not be required. This is not found persuasive because Examiner believes that the restriction is proper since the subcombinations are distinct from each other and are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I (claims 34-39 and 50), classified in class 705/37, has separate utility such as trading electronic contents between buyers and sellers and conducting a transaction. Invention II (claims 40-49 and 51), classified in class 705/10, has separate utility such as using software for evaluating electronic contents. Examiner notes that it would be a serious burden to search all three inventions given their separate status in the art as noted above.
- 2. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.
- 3. Claims 40-49 and 51 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the response filed 11 January 2005.
- 4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 6. Claims 34-39 and 50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ogilvie, U.S. Patent No. 6,343,738 B1 in view of Kopelman et al, U.S. Patent Application Publication No. US 2004/0138966 A1.

As per Claims 34, 37 and 50, Ogilvie discloses an information processing system capable of sending electronic contents between a buyer-side apparatus and seller-side apparatus via a network, comprising:

- a software program for evaluating the electronic contents by the seller-side apparatus (Col. 13, lines 25-35);
- first receiving means for receiving first information sent from the seller-side apparatus, the first information being a result evaluated by the seller-side apparatus (Figures 5 and 8; Col. 2, lines 15-26; Col. 11, lines 35-67; Col. 13, lines 25-35; Col. 14, lines 5-12; Col. 14, lines 57-63);
- second sending means for sending apparatus the received first information to the buyer-side apparatus (Figure 8; Col. 12, lines 50-60; Col. 14, lines 5-12; Col. 14, lines 57-63);
- second receiving means for receiving second information sent from the buyer-side apparatus, the second information containing a data relevant to purchase (Col. 6, lines 50-60; Col. 12, lines 15-27; Col. 25, lines 43-50; Col. 26, lines 27-35);
- third sending means for sending the received second information to the seller-side apparatus (Col. 12, lines 15-27; Col. 25, lines 43-50; Col. 26, lines 27-35);

- third receiving means for receiving the electronic contents sent from the seller-side apparatus in response to the reception of the second information (Col. 6,lines 35-50; Col. 25, lines 43-50; Col. 26, lines 27-35);

- fourth sending means for sending the received electronic contents to the buyer-side apparatus (Col. 12, lines 15-27; Col. 25, lines 43-50; Col. 26, lines 27-35).

Ogilvie discloses the use of a software program to evaluate the electronic contents such as generating samples of the content (Col. 13, lines 25-35), however, fails to specifically disclose sending the software program from the information processing system to the seller-side apparatus. Examiner submits, however, that it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to provide the software tools to the seller apparatus for evaluating/inspecting the electronic contents and generating samples. These software tools are conventionally known as disclosed by Ogilvie and it would have been obvious for the seller to acquire these tools or to provide the seller these tools by the system.

As per Claims 35 and 38, Ogilvie further discloses the use of encryption for encrypting information transmitted between the participants (Col. 9, lines 65-67; Col. 17, lines 56-61; Col. 20, lines 40-50).

As per Claims 36 and 39, Ogilvie fails to explicitly disclose a means for sending a cryptography key to the seller side apparatus and wherein the received electronic contents have been encrypted by using the cryptography key. Ogilvie does disclose, however, that encryption and the use of public keys are familiar tools that can be used to provide secure communications between the parties and the broker. Examiner takes Official Notice that using a cryptography key that is provided to the parties is well known in the art and it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to use a cryptography key in order to encrypt the communications between the parties in an effort to secure the information.
